

Obeying Rules

It might feel that everywhere you go there are signs telling you what you can and cannot do. Most of these signs are there for your safety, the safety of others or to protect our earth. It shows respect for others when we obey rules and guidelines.

What do you think could happen if you go against the rules on the signs below?

